

How to train Your Dragon Camp Review

by: Jenny Chen

This was by far the best camp I have ever been to. The program set by the Taiwanese Missionary was well thought through as it had good time allocation in order to do a variety of things thus keeping the liveliness of the camp. The activities were very interesting and exciting. This could only have been possible due to the enthusiasm brought by the Missionary Leaders. Their organization was impeccable and this helped everything run smoothly. The Leaders were very considerate to those that did not know mandarin so well and they really made an effort to assist wherever possible.

I think another important reason why this camp was so awesome was that most people were more open with their relationship with God and how they got to experience His love. The testimonies presented had a lasting impact as it was so relevant to what most of the people had been through. It was like, 'seen that, went through that, got the t-shirt kind- of- feeling.' I felt that Shinny's testimony really spoke to most people as the Asian youth in particular have the tendency to keep things in and keep away from people as they feel that others would not understand and it is seen as a form of a 'safety mechanism.'

I feel that God's grace was great at work within this camp and especially the C2S2 coworkers as well because we were truly touched by our friend's feelings. I think that communication between the coworkers could improve. We feel that we have a greater drive to even spread more of God's love and word through this experience.
